Recover An Outstanding Debt of £30,214.44 plus £4,378.44 in Interest ..... "Result"

The Problem

AW Electrical had agreed their final account in January 2016 but a year later they were still waiting for payment. Despite numerous attempts to extract payment A W Electrical had hit a brick wall.

The Solution

StreetwiseSubbie's consultant applied exactly the right kind of pressure on the Contractor by way of the threat of winding up proceedings. This is not something to be threatened lightly because in the wrong circumstances it can backfire on you. But in this case it was entirely appropriate and worked a treat, leaving the Contractor no option but to make the payment.

The Outcome

Not only was the £30,214.60 recovered but so was £4,738.44 in interest. The Contractor tried every trick in the book to avoid paying interest but in the end StreetwiseSubbie's tenacity and expertise won the day

To Summarise

When AW Electrical Ltd were faced with complete intransigence on the part of the Contractor it was time to call for professional support. They had been trying to recover £30,214.60 for a year, but StreetwiseSubbie immediately changed all that, and not only managed to get them paid, but they were also able to recover £4,378.44 interest on top!
